Sports Center Data Coming

The Industrial and Development Commission will meet tonight with members of the Planning Board and of the group proposing to establish a sports center on North Main st.

Purpose of the session, according to Chairman Wallace M. Haselton, is to find out as many details as possible about the suggested center. The Selectmen have not yet made a decision about calling a special town meeting to consider re-zoning the area that formerly was farmland.

Two Waltham teachers propose to establish the center, which will include bowling, ice skating and swimming in separate buildings. Joseph Cardello, who appeared before the Selectmen, said the center would be "campus style", with access from North Main st. and via a bridge over the river from the Shawsheen Plaza. Family plan memberships, to enable whole families to take part in one or more of the activities offered there would be offered, he indicated.

Surveys of the earning potential were requested by the Selectmen and, it is understood, have now been completed by the proponents. They show, it has been learned, that the area within a small radius around Andover is capable of supporting the enterprises.

23 New Homes OK'd In Month

Permits for 23 new houses, with garages, were issued by Building Inspector Ernest N. Hall during the month of August.

In a report to Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, hall said the new construction is estimated at $39,500. Permits for additions and alterations, valued at $12,500, were also issued.

The permits for new homes and garages went to Henry Bolduc, Beacon st., $14,500; John J. Lamb, Lowell st., $15,000; Brunswick Gardens Development Corp., two on Rennie dr., $14,000 and $16,000; John Briguglio, Nancy cir., $24,000; Flather Construction

For Whom The Bells Tolled

SYMBOLIC OF YOUNGSTERS EVERYWHERE are these five boys and girls answering the summons of the Shawsheen School bell. Superintendent of Schools Edward I. Erickson expected 3,346 young people to enter public school doors yesterday to start the 1959-60 academic year. (Leone)

May End Up With Bridge For 3 Houses On High Plain Rd.

One of the major arguments being advanced for a Route 110 overpass at High Plain rd., instead of a dead end as proposed by the state, hits directly at the taxpayers' pocketbooks.

In discussing the issues involved in dead ending this street, Town Manager Thomas E. Duff and town department heads considered the possible ill effects that may result from this proposal and the possibility that McKenney cir. may not have a reasonable access to the town.

In particular, the High Plain rd. issue struck directly at the financial aspects, however.

For in researching the problem, it was found that the Route 93 overpass at High Plain rd. will have been, in effect, built for three houses unless the road is allowed to remain open. The state planned and built that overpass without question.

Defer Raises For Principals

Action on a proposed salary adjustment for elementary school principals has been delayed by the School Committee.

Meeting Tuesday night, the Committee decided to consider the request for additional pay at budget time.

The principals now receive pay according to the teachers' schedule — $3,800 to $5,800 — plus $650 to $1,000 extra depending on the number of rooms in their school.

They had asked for a schedule of $6,500 to $7,500, plus $50 for each room up to a maximum of 20 rooms.

Supt. Edward I. Erickson told the Committee he has checked in several communities and finds that there is no general pattern of elementary principals' pay.

Member John Sullivan commented that the principals' request, if granted, would give them nearly 50 percent more money than teachers are getting.

And Dr. Milton J. Meyers suggested that the entire supervisory and administrative salary setup should be considered, rather than just the pays of the elementary principals. It was noted that the principal at the Junior High receives $6,700, with no extras and

Asks Legal Aid Over Crossing

Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien has been instructed by the Selectmen to determine whether the Boston and Maine Railroad can be required to fix the crossing at Essex st.

The Railroad, through its division engineer, recently said the work would be done when a crew of men was available — but did not specify when this might be accomplished. Town Manager Thomas E. Duff had requested the

Only 2% Tax Bills Are Paid

Less than two percent of the tax bills had been paid through the end of August, according to Tax Collector James P. Christie.

The collections amounted to a slim $357,038 out of $2,041,049 due the town.

Tax bills are to be paid by Oct. 1, and if they are not paid by Nov. 1, interest is charged as of the Oct. deadline.

Mr. Christie commented that some $800,000 was paid into his office in the final week last year, indicating that many persons delay their payments until the last minute.

He also revealed that the town collection of excise taxes is very slow because the state has not sent out many bills.

So far, only 3,774 bills have been received at the town hall so that they could be processed. The bills are figured by the Registry of Motor Vehicles and sent to the various cities and towns by that agency.

There are over 5,000 more bills to come to Andover for collection, according to the tax collector.

deliberations Tuesday night.

Two hearings for pit renewals and several other pits for which hearings have been held were under consideration.

The Cronin gravel pit off River st. in Ballardvale drew no objections, although Henry Brooks, who owns property adjacent to the pit asked that the Selectmen concern themselves with a row of boulders he believes are too close to his property. Although the pit owner said they were well away from the line, he agreed to have them moved.

Robert Park appeared to speak for his gravel pit off Chandler rd., 100 yards or more behind the town dump. He said the pit has never been worked, although the permit has run out and a renewal is needed. Park explained that Suburban Excavators originally planned to remove the material for the new highway, but then did not.

He said the ridge he wishes to have available runs back into the country.

The Selectmen also discussed two pits which had proved trouble, some in the past — one operated by Norman Scott and the other by Roy Farr. They agreed to take no action on these.

Another pit renewal under discussion was that of the Andover Associates, for the pit at the Country Club.

There was considerable talk about the route trucks should take, as it was recalled that residents of Beacon st. had petitioned the Board for relief from the traffic.

Board members agreed to seek a solution to that problem.

Also debated was the general complaint that many gravel trucks are overloaded and that more travel at excessive speeds.

Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien suggested that the Selectmen may issue one-week permits if there is any doubt about the operation of the pits or trucks. Then, he said, the Board could merely refuse to renew the permit at the end of the week if there was anything unsatisfactory about the method of handling the materials.

COOK-OUT STARTS P. F. SEASON

PORKERS WANDER OFF THROUGH OPEN GATE

Norman Tibbert reported to police Tuesday morning that all the pigs on his farm at Pleasant st. escaped during the weekend. He said he found the gate open when he went to the piggery early in the morning after being away over the weekend.

"A few weeks ago I saw a little girl struck by a car as she tried to cross the street. I saw a father race toward her and hold her to him as she struggled in the agony of death. I saw all the plans he had made for her crumble, and I saw the look of despair that came over his face. I could only offer a prayer that such a thing might never happen again.

"Today my daughter, who is six years old, started off to school. Her cocker spaniel, whose name is 'Scoot,' watched her leave and whined his belief in the folly of education.

"Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her, a girl with yellow curls, and about the boy across the aisle who makes faces; about the teacher who has eyes in the back of her head; about the trees in the school yard, and the big girl who does not believe in Santa Claus.

"We talked about a lot of things, some important, some unimportant.

"Now, as this is being written, she is sound asleep with her doll 'Paddy' in her arms.

"When her doll gets broken, or her finger gets cut, or her head gets bumped, I can fix them. But when she starts to cross the street, then Mr. Driver, she is in your hands.

"Much as I wish I could, it's not possible for me to be with her all the time. I have to work and pay for her home, her clothes and her education.

"So, Mr. Driver, please help me to look out for her. Please drive carefully. Please drive slowly past schools and at intersections. And please remember that sometimes children run from behind parked cars.

"Please don't run over my little girl."

SUPERINTENDENT'S SALARY UPPED BY $500

School Supt. Edward I. Erickson was granted a $500 increase in salary Tuesday night, retroactive to July 1. His salary is now $12,500.

The School Committee agreed that the superintendent's salary should be boosted to meet cost of living increases and members also admitted they had overlooked the department head's salary when granting increases to most school personnel last spring.

Rough Crossing!

HOW GOOD ARE YOUR SPRINGS? Crossing the railroad tracks at Essex st. is a mighty good test of a car's springs. Most vehicles get a pretty good shaking up, as indicated by the bouncing around this car is getting as it crosses in an easterly direction. The Railroad, in answer to the town's request for repairs, has said only that the job will be done when work crews are available. The railroad has not given any idea as to when this may be. The intersection is specially busy, taking traffic down the hill in the background along Pearson st., Essex st. and from Railroad st.

railroad to fix the crossing, noting that it is very rough and that one car had been stuck in the tracks.

The Railroad first specified that work must wait for completion of gas main construction at the site. But in a later exchange of letters, there was no indication that the work would be done with any speed.

Commented Selectman William Stewart: "Maybe they can be made to do it. Why should they be stalling us off on a thing like that?"

United Fund Cooperation Good

RONALD READER

Ronald Reader, chairman of the Andover Commercial Division in the forthcoming United Fund Campaign, reports that he has received "wonderful cooperation" from the merchants in the town. Chairman Reader's first choices have accepted the 16 sub-division chairmanships in the division.

To develop this cooperation further, Chairman Reader states that Winthrop Newcomb, former United Fund Budget Committee chairman, has already talked to the Board of Trade members at their monthly dinner meeting held Tuesday. Mr. Newcomb's talk was to re-acquaint Board of Trade members with the United Fund and to insure their cooperation when the United Fund solicitor calls on them in early October.

United Fund results from this division last year were as follows: 143 firms contributed $2,539; 30 Employees Groups contributed $1,245.67.

303 Cars Halted During Weekend

Andover police stopped 303 automobiles during the Labor Day weekend - with only 13 cases serious enough to report to the Registry of Motor Vehicles for possible action.

A full report on the weekend drive was forwarded to the Registry Tuesday, as that agency sought to determine the results of its statewide enforcement campaign.

Sgt. Robert Deyermund said there were no arrests over the long weekend, and no drivers were stopped for operating after drinking or driving under the influence of liquor.

Of the total, 290 warnings were issued to drivers for infractions of safe driving rules. Uppermost was the habit of one-arm driving, according to the summary of the weekend activities.

At least 123 drivers were warned against this practice, one of the prime targets of the Registry's safe driving campaign.

Among other reasons listed for stopping drivers was the dangerous practice of letting youngsters stand up in the car. Various other minor departures from safe procedures on the highways made up the balance of the warnings, the report indicated.

ENTERS CONSERVATORY WITH SCHOLARSHIP

He graduated from Andover High School this year. He was awarded a $100 scholarship from the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

Yankee craftsmanship and ingenuity have made New England the nuclear submarine center of the world. USS Skipjack, whose unusual silhouette is shown above, is the world's fastest and deepest diving submersible. First of a new generation of fighting ships, Skipjack is so hydrodynamically superior to all other subs she makes man's dream of outperforming the fish a near-reality.

New England shipyards currently employ 43,000 men and are operating at a postwar peak to provide vessels for civilian and military use. Our principal yards are building everything from giant 100,000-ton tankers to nuclear cruisers and submarines to small minesweepers. A boon in pleasure boating is keeping the region's smaller yards busy producing a veritable armada ranging from sleek expensive sloops to tiny dinghies.

New Englanders have been associated with the sea - in one way or another - since the Pilgrims dropped anchor in Plymouth Bay in 1620. For hundreds of years they have built ships for national defense, commerce on the seven seas, and recreation. Now New England is leading the way in a new shipbuilding dimension - nuclear propulsion.

United Fund Cooperation Good

RONALD READER

Ronald Reader, chairman of the Andover Commercial Division in the forthcoming United Fund Campaign, reports that he has received "wonderful cooperation" from the merchants in the town. Chairman Reader's first choices have accepted the 16 sub-division chairmanships in the division.

To develop this cooperation further, Chairman Reader states that Winthrop Newcomb, former United Fund Budget Committee chairman, has already talked to the Board of Trade members at their monthly dinner meeting held Tuesday. Mr. Newcomb's talk was to re-acquaint Board of Trade members with the United Fund and to insure their cooperation when the United Fund solicitor calls on them in early October.

United Fund results from this division last year were as follows: 143 firms contributed $2,639; 30 Employees Groups contributed $1,246.57.

303 Cars Halted During Weekend

Andover police stopped 303 automobiles during the Labor Day weekend — with only 13 cases serious enough to report to the Registry of Motor Vehicles for possible action.

A full report on the weekend drive was forwarded to the Registry Tuesday, as that agency sought to determine the results of its statewide enforcement campaign.

Sgt. Robert Deyermund said there were no arrests over the long weekend, and no drivers were stopped for operating after drinking or driving under the influence of liquor.

Of the total, 290 warnings were issued to drivers for infractions of safe driving rules. Uppermost was the habit of one-arm driving, according to the summary of the weekend activities.

At least 123 drivers were warned against this practice, one of the prime targets of the Registry's safe driving campaign.

Among other reasons listed for stopping drivers was the dangerous practice of letting youngsters stand up in the car. Various other minor departures from safe procedures on the highways made up the balance of the warnings, the report indicated.

ENTERS CONSERVATORY WITH SCHOLARSHIP

David H. Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Hudson, 100 River rd., West Andover, will enter the New England Conservatory of Music this month.

He graduated from Andover High School this year. He was awarded a $100 scholarship from the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

Help For The Stricken

Kneeling are Frank Orlando, in whose yard on Dale st. the show was presented, and William Tyler. Standing are Judy Madden, Cynthia Orlando, and Susan Madden.

A talent show was put on by five children on Dale st., Ballardvale, Tuesday afternoon, from which a sum of money amounting to over $3 was sent to Ted Williams to aid the Jimmy Fund.

DEFER ACTION ON PRINCIPALS' WAGES

the headmaster at the High School receives $8,000, also without extras.

Cited Comparisons

Erickson listed the method of payment in five other communities, indicating the varied methods used to pay elementary principals.

In No. Andover, the principal may receive up to $5,800 with a master's degree, plus $1,500 for 10 or more rooms or $1,000 for a school with less than 10 rooms.

Methuen pays its elementary principals in three steps, $5,500, $6,000 and $6,500, but this is now undergoing some revision.

Reading has no salary scale for the elementary principals — paying four different amounts from $6,250 up to $7,000. The principals also are required to do some summer work.

Stoneham pays $5,000 to a principal in an 18-room building. There is no scale, this being the first time there has been a full-time principal.

In Winchester, the principals get $500 to $1,000, depending on the number of teachers in the school, in addition to the pay established under the teachers' schedule.

But in that community, the teaching schedule for women is $4,000 to $6,700 for a bachelor's degree and $4,350 to $7,050 with a master's degree. Men receive $4,350 to $7,050 or $4,700 to $7,400 with a master's degree.

Schedule Listed

In their request for additional money, the local principals had suggested the following steps: minimum of $5,500; $300 more after two years; another $300 two years later and then two $200 increases in each of the next two years. Thus they would go from minimum to maximum in six years.

It would be possible for the principal, at maximum, with a school of 20 or more rooms, to earn $8,500 under the proposed plan.

Wedding...

ZINNO — HUYSENTRUYT
The wedding of Miss Carol L. Huysentruyt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Huysentruyt, 24 Springfield st., Lawrence, and Frank A. Zinno, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Zinno, 394 North Main st., took place Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in St. Patrick's Church, Lawrence. The Rev. Eugene P. McNamara officiated.

Miss Agnes R. Doyle played the nuptial music for the ceremony and the altar was banked with arrangements of gladioli.

The bride, escorted by her father, chose a gown of French Chantilly lace with a sabrina neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her bouffant skirt was fashioned with a cascade of ruffles that terminated in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a cap of lace and tulle embroidered with sequins and pearls and she carried a cascade of white roses.

Miss Arlene Whitney was maid of honor. She wore a mint green floor length gown of frosted organza with a fitted bodice and a Southern belle skirt that was caught on both sides in an apron effect. She wore a coronation crown with a face veil and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Gallo and Miss Ann Tomacchio, cousins of the bridegroom, and Louise Caredeo of Lawrence. They wore identical outfits in yellow and carried mixed bouquets of mint green flowers.

Gerald Bouchard was best man for his cousin. The ushers included Peter Zinno, brother of the bridegroom, Thomas Conley of Lawrence, and David Rumore, cousin of the bride.

The reception was held at the Colony Room with guests present from Cambridge, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Haverhill.

On return from a wedding trip to Miami Beach, Fla., the couple will reside at 155 Farnham st., Lawrence.

WILL ASK HEARING ON ROUTE 110

The town is going to request that a public hearing on Route 110 plans be held as soon as possible. Thus, interested citizens will have a chance to see the plans and question engineers about them.

The decision was taken Tuesday night, following a discussion of the proposed route between the Selectmen and Town Manager Thomas E. Duff.

Letters requesting specific changes in the plans, as they affect McKenney cir. and High Plain rd., are now being prepared for transmission to the state Department of Public Works. High Plain rd. would be dead ended and Mr. Kenney cir. isolated from town if the tentative plans shown town officials are approved.

WILL ASK HEARING ON ROUTE 110

The town is going to request that a public hearing on Route 110 plans be held as soon as possible. Thus, interested citizens will have a chance to see the plans and question engineers about them.

The decision was taken Tuesday night, following a discussion of the proposed route between the Selectmen and Town Manager Thomas E. Duff.

Letters requesting specific changes in the plans, as they affect McKenney cir. and High Plain rd., are now being prepared for transmission to the state Department of Public Works. High Plain rd. would be dead ended and Mr. Kenney cir. isolated from town if the tentative plans shown town officials are approved.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Wise To Avoid Conflicts

Conflicts in meeting dates and in public events by the many organizations have been growing in recent years, to the confusion of many and the concern of all who help plan and carry out the various programs.

We've particularly noticed, through keeping a week-to-week calendar of coming events, that many activities that would appeal to the same people are often scheduled at the same time.

The Library keeps a date book, established to prevent just this sort of occurrence. And the "Coming Events" column in the Townsman can also serve the same purpose.

It would be sensible for all organizations to get their regular meeting times listed in both the Library's book and the Townsman's column — and then check before planning a special event so that duplication can be avoided as much as possible.

Everyone's cooperation is required to make this a success — but the results should be worthwhile. . . by better attendance at meetings and at public activities which, after all, are usually offered by an organization with a view towards making money.

Habit That's Hard To Break

One-armed driving is a habit developed over the years — one that's mighty hard to break at a moment's notice.

Thus it's no wonder that this offense against safe driving should top the list for warnings handed out during the long weekend just past.

There probably is no one who has not, at some time or another, taken one hand off the steering wheel and draped it out a window. That's why it is going to be difficult to stamp out the habit, regardless of how important it may be to do so.

We hope that a campaign notable for its patience can be evolved, rather than one that involves punitive measures. For while the one-handed driving is unsafe, it seems that three-quarters of the motorists would be walking if they were all to receive a license suspension for the offense.

Time and constant repetition of warnings should make most drivers conscious of their responsibilities. Then it will be time to crack down on the few who refuse to concede that they have better control of their car with both hands on the wheel.

Don't Be An Obituary

Ever since Hector was a pup — and that must be a long time ago — we've heard warnings about the explosive possibilities of gasoline when a flame comes near. And we've never had any desire to ignore the admonition.

One fellow — who, for some reason, didn't become a hospital statistic — doesn't believe the experts. For we saw this chap toss plenty of white gas on a stove full of charcoal, then casually drop a match on top. Sure, there was an explosion of sorts, and anyone close by could have been seriously burned. Then, to make matters worse, the fellow later added more gas to the charcoal when it didn't burn quickly enough.

There was all the chance in the world that his friends would be making a trip to the hospital to visit him — but nothing happened.

It's such cases as this one — when nothing does happen — that help to make other people careless. They see nothing wrong in copying the stunt, based on someone else's fool luck.

Even though the outdoor cooking season is drawing to a close — remember, don't use gasoline to light that fire. Don't tempt fate. Don't be a statistic, or maybe an obituary.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — September, 1909
Everett Collins, a student last year at the Boston Latin School, has enrolled at Punchard.

Morrison and O'Connell have had an electric fan installed for their forges, instead of the old-style hand bellows.

Robert A. Gardner, the old Phillips Academy track star and pole vaulter, distinguished himself this week by winning the National Amateur Golf championship. Experts were surprised by his victory.

Punchard has opened with an enrollment of 125.

Work on the new gas reservoir on Railroad st. is progressing. When finished, service to town should be improved.

The Republican caucus will be held Tuesday night in the town hall.

Among the guests at the huge Chamber of Commerce dinner for President Taft were A. L. Ripley and David Shaw.

25 Years Ago — September, 1934
About 50 strikers from Fall River were stopped in Shawsheen last Friday noon by Lawrence and Andover police. They were turned back, after being told that they could not picket in Lawrence, the only major city where a strike is not in progress. The caravan of cars and trucks was stopped about at William st. by a large force of police.

The total school enrollment opening day indicated a decrease from last year, although the high school has grown in numbers. There were 1,552 attending, or 24 less than a year ago. The high school showed 470 enrolled, a jump of 28.

Both Phillips and Abbot Academies open next Tuesday.

The tax rate was announced yesterday at an all-time high figure of $29.50. The increase is $5.30 over last year and exceeds the previous high of $23.80 established in 1928. The Assessors said the lack of free cash to help reduce the rate, increased expenditures and the failure of real estate valuations to increase all had an effect on the rate.

The town is calling for bids this week on the Junior High project, which now has been approved by the P.W.A. The bids will be opened in October.

10 Years Ago — September, 1949

A local man is in fair condition in the hospital this week after an accident on Elm st. Police were summoned to the one-car wreck just after 2 a.m. Monday and found the driver pinned in his car. Police said the vehicle, going west on Elm st., grazed a tree on the right side. Then it continued, grazing another tree, hit a third tree some 50 feet further and careened across the street. There, it hit a tree, travelled west another 30 feet and struck a stone wall, which was knocked down for about six feet. The car rolled over and pinned the driver.

The month of August was a good one for building, according to the building inspector's report. Permits were issued for a total of $180,500 worth of work.

Warren O. Peterson of Haverhill has been elected town engineer by the Board of Public Works.

Twenty-five members of the United Nations secretariat will be entertained locally the last weekend of the month, following arrangements by local women who were anxious to have the persons see Andover.

There were 1,544 youngsters enrolled in the public schools opening day — some 114 over a year ago.

Officer Raymond Collins stopped a car at Salem st. at 3:20 a.m. last night and discovered that it had been stolen in Manchester, N. H. by the juveniles driving it. The two youngsters and the car were later turned over to Manchester authorities.

Shower Held For Sheila Lobick

A surprise miscellaneous shower was held in honor of Miss Sheila Lobick in the garden of the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lobick, 22 Enmore st. The hostesses were her aunts, Mrs. Ida Lees, Mrs. Anna Tatoyian and Mrs. Esther Blamire.

She opened her many gifts under a pink satin shower bell after which guests adjourned to the house where a buffet lunch was served by the hostesses.

Miss Lobick will become the bride of John Cullen, son of Mrs. Lillian Cullen of Ferguson ave., Lawrence, Oct. 17 in St. Augustine's Church.

At The Library

Coming Events: SEPTEMBER

Winter hours now in effect.
12 First Saturday library is open this fall.

18 Bookworm party, 3:45 p.m.

Library Hours

Beginning this week the library has returned to its regular hours open. The main reading room is open daily, Monday through Friday, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Boys and girls may use their room from 11:30 to 12:30, and again from 2 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, Saturday, the main reading room is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; the children's room is open from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Bookworm Party

Plans are being made for the annual "Bookworm party", to be held Friday afternoon, Sept. 19, at 3:45 o'clock in the library. All young people who have been members of the Bookworm Reading Club this summer, reading books for credit and helping to add bricks to the drawing of the library addition, are cordially invited to attend. The ticket of admission to the party is the orange record sheet on which each child has been listing the titles of books which he has read.

Did You Overlook These?

During the summer many readers lose touch with newer titles added to the library shelves: here are a few which may be attractive, any of which may be borrowed at once. God And Freud, Gross; Man's Right To Be Human, Anderson; The Elements Of Style, Strunk; Synchronized Swimming, Yates; Fidel Castro, Dubois; New England State Politics, Lockard; The Elder Statesman, Eliot; This Is The Desert, Ault; Autobiography, 1894-1892, Darwin; Now Or Never, Blanton; Stories Of Christmas Carols, Emurian; Brazilian-Portuguese From Thought To Word, Agard; The World's Racing Cars And Sports Cars, Armstrong; The Southeast — a guide to Florida and nearby shores, Zim; Ladies' Day, Aristophanes (by Fitts); Biography Of An Idea, Bainbridge; Indoor Gardening Handbook, Flower; Grower; The Seesaw Log, Gibson, a play; Great Men Of Medicine, Hume.

Labor Day

Now that Labor Day has fallen into the very recent past, readers may ask themselves "What was that day we celebrated by having a picnic, or going fishing, or taking a trip to the mountains?" Perhaps it would be well to take time to read up on the position of labor in the country today, the history of labor organizations. The Memorial Hall Library is displaying a number of books which would be useful to the reader who wishes to explore this interesting subject among them are the following: Labor And The Law, Gregory — a survey of the evolution of our labor laws; When Labor Votes, Cornhauser — a study of auto workers; What Do You Know About Labor? Myers — a quick introduction to the American labor movement by authors with long experience in labor relations; The Worker Views His Union, Seidman and others — a study of the attitudes of rank and file local union members; American Labor Unions, Purcell; The Worker Speaks His Mind On Company And Union, Purcell; Participation In Union Locals, Tannebaum — a study of the extent to which members involve themselves in and devote energy to the operation of local unions; As Union Mature, Lester — an analysis of the evolution of American unionism; Work In The Lives Of Married Women, National Manpower Council — an attempt to assess the implications of the high employment of married women.

All material may be borrowed for home use.

Delays Decision On Loam Move

The Realty Construction Co. request for permission to sell excess loam from its development at Lovejoy and Dascomb rds. has been tabled by the Selectmen.

The Board agreed to delay action, after member Edward P. Hall said he doesn't believe there is sufficient loam on the graded areas. He also disagreed with a representative of the contracting firm, who had earlier told the Board the piles of earth are in the way and must be moved around on the construction site if the sale is not permitted. Hall said the loam was pushed back once and has remained in the original location.

Realty had asked approval of its plan to sell what was termed excess loam. Irvin Birchall, treasurer of the firm, told the Board it is costly to move the material around on the site and that it would be much easier to sell off the loam. He disagreed at that time with a statement by Mr. Hall that there is insufficient loam on the graded areas.

Recalling that permission had been given for the removal of some excess materials some weeks ago, the Selectmen decided to do nothing about the request at this time. Members felt that removal of the loam would make it unlikely that additional loam would be available if new residents wanted it.

The research shows that six points of traffic flow were provided along Route 93, one being the overpass at High Plain rd. They averaged out to about one per mile, the figures show.

If High Plain rd. is now dead ended by Route 110, one of these points will be lost, without adequate traffic flow between Chandler rd. and Lowell st.

Moreover, from a point on High Plain rd. itself, about at the Babicki farm, traffic would have to move six miles to get to High Plain rd. across the new highway opposite Babicki's. This, the department heads felt, would be very difficult in relation to fire and police protection, and for the movement of school buses and other essential services.

The value of the area was expressed in terms of engineering studies, which indicate it to be an area of tremendous potential growth.

Engineering reports have called for water mains of eight and 12 inches in the area to handle the future population as predicted by the professionals. Already, an eight inch main has been hung under the present bridge, according to the report. This was done in conformance with the town's decision to install adequate-size mains in areas where state highway construction requires immediate work, rather than replacing the smaller mains already in existence.

It was pointed out at the meeting that some of the area that would be isolated if High Plain rd. is dead ended already has been purchased for development. Officials, from time to time, have cited the area as being one of the best residential possibilities in the community.

In reference to the dead ending proposal, the survey sharply pointed the cost factor - an overpass installed at Route 93 would serve three houses unless the plans also provide for an overpass at Route 110.

May Get Action

Town officials can not forecast whether requests to the state Department of Public Works, and then to the U. S. Bureau of Roads will get any favorable response. It has been explained by engineers from the state that the federal agency must approve all plans before they are finalized. The said that the High Plain rd. dead ending results from a belief that the cost of an overpass there is too great, compared with the possible loss resulting from the isolation of the area.

Present tentative plans have been submitted to the Bureau, the engineers have explained. They indicated that the chances of obtaining changes in them are greater prior to the issuance of approval from the Bureau than they would be at a later date.

SIGN CONTRACTS FOR SEWER PLANT WORK

Contracts for the addition to the Ballardvale sewage treatment plant were signed Tuesday night by the Selectmen.

The agreement is with the Realty Construction Co., which is footing the bills for the job. The firm's own men will do the work, beginning within a 20-day period from the time the contract is approved by Town Council.

Fredric S. O'Brien. The Selectmen also were told Tuesday that the Realty Co. anticipated getting started with its major drainage job at Lovejoy and Dascomb rds. within days.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a jewel trimmed lace pill box and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and Stephanotis with an orchid center.

The maid of honor wore a gown of coral embroidered sheer organza with a square neckline, cap sleeves and a full floor length skirt with a tulle flounce. She carried coral tinted carnations and turquoise pompons. The flower girl wore a duplicate of her

Expenditures of Trust Funds Pace
Rise in Government Spending

Federal trust funds, which are built into the Government's taxing power but which operate outside the Federal budget and its restrictions, have been setting the pace for the general rise in Government expenditures over recent years, according to an analysis of data compiled by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget.

In today's highly inflationary atmosphere, this trend takes on added importance from the fact that the mounting cost of Government, and its impact on the people and on the economy, have become a major domestic problem.

The Recent Record

Bureau of the Budget figures show that total Government trust fund expenditures reached a record high of more than $16 billions in the 1958 fiscal year which ended last June, and were the equivalent of more than 22 per cent of all Federal budget expenditures for the year. The comparable figures in the previous fiscal year were $13 billions and less than 19 per cent. As recently as the 1953 fiscal year, total trust fund expenditures were little more than $5½ billions, and were then equivalent to only about 7 per cent of Federal budget spending for that year.

Thus in dollar totals and in proportion to Federal budget spending, trust fund outlays have more than tripled in the period since the 1953 fiscal year. Indicating that the trend is continuing, estimates for the current fiscal year place the total of trust fund expenditures at more than $18 billions, equal to nearly 23 per cent of the record peacetime budget expenditures of more than $79 billions anticipated for the 1959 fiscal period.

A substantial increase in payments out of the unemployment fund has been a factor in the rise in trust fund expenditures in the past year. Over the longer term, however, the dominant expansionary element has been rapidly rising payments out of the OASI fund, reflecting a combination of a steady rise in the number of persons on the benefit rolls plus periodic liberalization of benefits.

How They Operate

There are hundreds of separate Government trust and deposit accounts, the origins of which go back many years. The dominant type in terms of finances is the welfare program, symbolized by OASI which alone represents about half of all receipts and expenditures of the various trust funds put together. A development of recent years is the economic-type of trust fund, a major example of which is the highway fund for carrying out the planned 40,000-mile road-building program.

Most of these trust funds, and the appropriations required for their operations, are embodied in permanent laws. Unlike the bulk of Federal budget outlays, they do not require annual action by Congress.

Popular attention to Government spending is concentrated on the Federal budget totals, and these alone have reached a level for peacetime which are attracting increasing concern in and out of Government. However, to measure the full impact of the flow of funds from the Government into the economy, trust fund operations must be included, as is done by the Budget Bureau in its data on Federal Government receipts from and payments to the public.

Here the magnitude attained by trust fund operations becomes apparent. As against Federal budget expenditures of some $79 billions anticipated for the current fiscal year, total Government payments to the public after adjustment for duplications are estimated at $94 billions. Such a figure for overall Government spending was exceeded only once before in the nation's history, at the height of World War II expenditures, and then only by a margin of about a billion dollars.

The Disappearing 'Cushion'

Up to the present, total Government trust fund operations have almost invariably shown an annual margin of receipts over expenditures. As a result, taking the accounts of the Federal establishment as a whole, these surpluses in trust fund operations have represented a cash "cushion" to aid the Treasury in the financing of budget deficits or to provide funds for additional reduction of publicly-held debt in the few years in the last three decades in which the budget ran a surplus. Surpluses in trust funds are, by law, required to be invested in Government securities, and these funds currently hold about a fifth of the public debt.

But this "cushion" of surplus cash in the trust accounts, in recent years running as high as $4 billions as in the 1951 fiscal period, has practically disappeared. For the 1958 fiscal year, the margin of receipts over expenditures in trust fund operations was only a quarter of a billion dollars as against $1.4 billions the year before. For the current fiscal year, an $800 million deficit is anticipated in these accounts.

Casanova

Wait a minute, Dad. How can you forget so quickly? You're not that old. Remember your first date? Remember the first time you fell in love? How you suffered!

Sure, Junior ties up the phone. His conversation doesn't make sense to you. But he isn't talking to you. Don't drive him into secrecy by humiliating him.

And Junior: Have some consideration for your father. He might want to use the phone himself. Show him the same respect you expect to receive from him. Life is not a one-sided affair.

Trust Funds Pace Government Spending built into the Government's taxing the Federal budget and its restriction on the general rise in Government spending according to an analysis of data compiled.

Most of these trust funds, and the appropriations required for their operations, are embodied in permanent laws. Unlike the bulk of Federal budget outlays, they do not require annual action by Congress.

Popular attention to Government spending is concentrated on the Federal budget totals, and these alone have reached a level for peacetime which are attracting increasing concern in and out of Government. However, to measure the full impact of the flow of funds from the Government into the economy, trust fund operations must be included, as is done by the Budget Bureau in its data on Federal Government receipts from and payments to the public.

Here the magnitude attained by trust fund operations becomes apparent. As against Federal budget expenditures of some $79 billion anticipated for the current fiscal year, total Government payments to the public after adjustment for duplications are estimated at $94 billion. Such a figure for overall Government spending was exceeded only once before in the nation's history, at the height of World War II expenditures, and then only by a margin of about a billion dollars.

The Disappearing 'Cushion'

Up to the present, total Government trust fund operations have almost invariably shown an annual margin of receipts over expenditures. As a result, taking the accounts of the Federal establishment as a whole, these surpluses in trust fund operations have represented a cash "cushion" to aid the Treasury in the financing of budget deficits or to provide funds for additional reduction of publicly-held debt in the few years in the last three decades in which the budget ran a surplus. Surpluses in trust funds are, by law, required to be invested in Government securities, and these funds currently hold about a fifth of the public debt.

But this "cushion" of surplus cash in the trust accounts, in recent years running as high as $4 billion as in the 1951 fiscal period, has practically disappeared. For the 1958 fiscal year, the margin of receipts over expenditures in trust fund operations was only a quarter of a billion dollars as against $1.4 billion the year before. For the current fiscal year, an $800 million deficit is anticipated in these accounts.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

New Approach To Hunger

Although giant strides have been made toward wiping out infectious disease in the tropics, another huge health problem still plagues underdeveloped areas of the world: malnutrition. In these areas, two out of three people still subsist on near-starvation diets.

The greatest lack in tropical diets is protein, such as meat, milk and fish. In some areas it is simply unavailable; in others, it is too expensive for most of the people who need it. This shortage affects the health of everyone, but is particularly damaging to growing children.

In the search for some relatively inexpensive diet supplement which would help to counteract this protein deficiency, one group of scientists has hit upon a logical answer: the antibiotic Terramycin.

Terramycin is principally known, of course, for its ability to cure more than 100 infectious diseases. But farmers have known for years that the addition of very small amounts of this antibiotic to the diet of farm animals increases their rate of growth. Why not try to pass some of the benefit along to human children as well?

An experiment with a group of 64 poorly nourished school children in tropical Haiti revealed that supplementing the children's diet with small amounts of Terramycin, or the essential amino acid (a building-block of protein) called lysine, greatly improved their growth rate. Of the two, Terramycin showed the best growth-promoting effect, which persisted a number of months after the antibiotic supplement was discontinued.

In addition, Dr. Elmer H. Loughlin noted, the Terramycin supplement produced no undesirable effects of any kind, either in the first group of children or in an additional group of 243 who have been receiving the supplement since October 1956.

WHY?

Are We Paid a "SALARY?"

When man changed from nomadic diet of flesh and milk to cereals and vegetables in agricultural life, salt became the most valuable commodity in the world, symbolic of the greatest good. Christ called his followers salt of the earth. Cordelia loved her father, King Lear, "like salt." Wisdom was personified holding a salt-cellar. Bestowal of the Salt of Wisdom is Catholic ritual today.

"Salary" comes from Latin salarium meaning "salt money" from the time when Roman legionaries were paid in salt. Whether you are "worth your salt" is your boss's problem.

Raytheon Working On New Sonar

The entire system will be an integral part of the hull design, a new concept in submarine construction. In the past, sonars were fitted into existing hulls. By being "built-in", the complex electronic gear not only can be packed into a relatively tight space, but can be located in the most favorable position in the undersea craft.

Submarines carrying this new system will be able to locate their targets — both subs and surface craft — from much longer distances. This reduces the chances that they themselves will be detected by the enemy.

Triple threat sonar systems that will help make future U. S. submarines the deadliest-known killers are now on the way.

The Navy's Bureau of Ships has awarded Raytheon Company contracts totaling $30 million to develop and produce the new sonars (Sound-Navigation and Range) devices.

The new sonar will be one of the most comprehensive detection systems ever devised for underwater craft. It combines 1) sophisticated searching; 2) electronic control of underwater firepower; and 3) advanced communications techniques.

The new sonars are also expected to add considerable flexibility and stealth to a sub commander's bag of tactical tricks.

His findings can be relayed to companion sub-killers for coordinated attack. He also can plot his own craft's best attack course for firing torpedoes or other weapons.

This attack can now be made from a concealed underwater position, eliminating the need to surface to periscope height for visual sighting.

Design and development of major portions of the system were conducted at Raytheon's Government Equipment division laboratory at Wayland. Production will be at the division's Submarine Signal Subdivision plants at Portsmouth, Rhode Island, and North Dighton.

Sonar systems do many things for submarines that radar does for surface ships and aircraft. Signals in both cases are generated electronically. Sonar signals are transmitted through water; radar through air. Striking a solid object, the reflected signals reveal distance and direction. Sonar, however, uses sound waves; radar, radio waves.

Raytheon is a leading developer and producer of military and commercial sonar. Its experience dates back to 1901 when the Submarine Signal Company, now part of the firm, was founded. Raytheon sonars were used in both World Wars.

Other Raytheon-developed sonars are used on surface ships and aircraft. One even measures the velocity of water flow in a river.

Magnetostrictive Nickel

The ability of nickel to contract and return to its original length in an alternating magnetic field makes it a useful metal in ultra-sonic equipment, such as magnetostriction phonograph pickups, oscillators and tools.
